CIRCUIT DESCRIPTION

Tuned from aerial inputs L₁, C₁ (M.W.) and L₁, L₂, C₂ (L.W.) pentode triode valve (V₁, Mullard 6X4GT) operating as frequency changer with internal coupling. ST diode to short-circuit L₁ for M.W. operation.
Single oscillator grid coil L₃ is used by C₃ and is used on both wavebands.
Parallel tuning by C₃ (M.W.) and C₄, C₅, C₆ (L.W.). Reaction coupling by C₇ (M.W. and L.W.). Reaction coupling from oscillator anode by L₄.
Second valve (V₂, Mullard 6X4GT) is a

Circuit diagram of the Bush DAC90A. The waveband switch unit is shown in the under-chassis illustration (location reference H2) where its switch tags are identified. The screening round the lead to RT is connected to V₂ cathode.

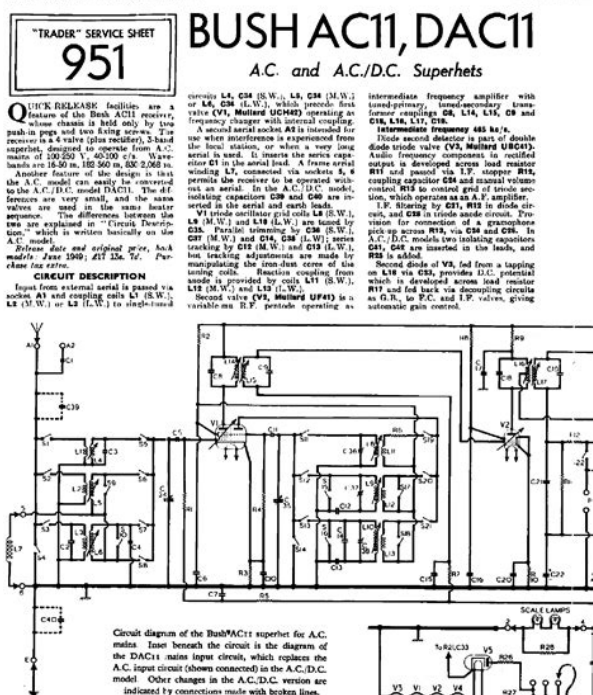

Like yours, the manual says it does. Another question to ask Bush I suppose. Their website is no help it doesnt even have this model on it. Ive now sent an email to Bush about the problems I reported.Like yours, the manual says it does. Ive now sent an email to Bush about the problems I reported.Other than that this is an excellent machine IMO. I have at last created my wedding DVD only 18 months late.Theres so many wires.All Rights Reserved. This job can now be done using a DVD Recorder with integrated VHS tape deck or by using a computer One touch record.Up to 6 hours recording time. DVD zoom function.On screen programming. Index search. Front AV inputs. It is a three stage process To the letter of the law it is of course ILLEGAL to copy any work that is copyright protected. DO NOT be tempted to copy anything that has copyright protection for FINANCIAL GAIN. If you do you will be liable to be dealt with severely. The enforcement bodies are more concerned with commercial setups that make big bucks from duplicating and distributing hundreds or thousands of bootleg copies of the latest releases. None of this of course applies if you are transferring your own holiday wedding party whatever personal videos. A WinFast TV2000 XP card will capture analogue video with excellent picture quality available from Planet Micro see fit an analogue capture card page Some camcorders have analog to firewire passthrough. There are also analog to USB2 converters available, and also analog to firewire Bridges. The firewire options normally also transfer audio with the video signal. Those that dont will require a seperate audio connecting lead.Some DVDR drives will also read and write DVDRAM discs called DVD Multi drives, which make them a much more useful investment.Not all VCRs will have these output connections, but dont worry. You can use the VCRs scart out connection with a switchable inputoutput scart to phono adapter set to output.

Only use the SVideo connector if you have an SVHS video. Most VCRs are not SVHS machines and therefore you should connect using the adapters phono connectors. It is made for the job and removes most of the time and work involved in adding chapters and menus. It will also convert the stereo audio to SurroundSound. The relatively small outlay involved will be recovered after transferring just a couple of tapes to DVD. If you do not have a DVD writer Pinnacle Studio 9 can also make VCDs or SVCDs instead of DVDs, or you can output back to videotape or to the web. Most do not produce DVDs, they can only make VCDs from DVDs or video tape, reducing file sizes at the expense of playback quality. If playback quality is important to you it is best to avoid these copy programs. Remember, making a DVD requires a DVD writer, a CD writer CANNOT produce a DVD. Check this out if this is important to you before parting with your cash. Unfortunately macrovision is a less than perfect system that does lead to fluctuations in the pictures brightness levels on tape playback, even when playing original first generation tapes on your VCR. Once fitted they automatically restore the luma signal that passes through them. The Bush DVRHS02 is also able to play Region 0 All Regions discs and has features such as Progressive Scan. We are not available on weekends. Payment Is made within 5 days of the auction ending via Ebay using PayPal. Unfortunately we do not accept cash on collection. This is a bidding auction only unless stated otherwise Collection Is required within 7 days of the listing ending, proof of payment via a PayPal receipt is required You can help support St Oswalds by becoming an eBay Community Seller.It's easy to donate and support St Oswalds Hospice on our website St Oswald's Hospice is a charity which provides outstanding expert care to babies, children, young adults and adults from across the North East of England.

Cosmetically there are some signs of wear, mainly to the top of it as shown in photos. Great looking piece of kit though. Various outputs are supported by this model, including Analog Audio x 2, Digital Audio Coaxial RCA, Digital Audio Optical TOSLINK, SVideo, SVideo via SCART. The DVD Player is marked as being limited to playing commercial DVDs from Region 2 UK and the rest of Europe except Belarus, Ukraine, and Russia, Greenland, Turkey, the Middle East, Egypt, Eswatini, Lesotho, South Africa, Japan, and French Guiana. In addition, it will play DVDs marked as All These region discs have all 18 flags set, allowing the disc to be played in any location, on any player or 0 Region Free. It also allows connection to a satellite or digital tuner with Line Through via Line3 SCART. This combination can revive all those oldies on VHS, CD and DVD, and create VHS recordings from CD or DVD. Overall, this is a very flexible combination allowing many older formats to be used once again, while having newer connectors like TOSLINK, too. I am usually able to offer discount on multiple purchases, and willing to combine carriage costs, too. If you do buy, please do leave your feedback about the transaction, to inform others considering a purchase many thanks. There is NO remote included. The unit has some marks on the casing.
